

Research Volunteers Needed: Do You Have Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder?

Researchers at Columbia University/New York State Psychiatric Institute are conducting a study to better understand the genetic contributions to Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder (OCD). The study is sponsored by the National Institute of Mental Health.

We are looking for individuals with OCD and their relatives (parents or siblings) to participate. Participation involves:

- For you, a 2-3 hour interview and a DNA sample
- For your relatives, just a DNA sample

Compensation is available for you ($75) and your relatives ($35 each).

All study procedures can take place in the home or at our medical center.
Evening and weekend appointments are available.

If you would like to help us better understand the causes of OCD, please contact us at (212) 543 – 5364.
